FINAL APPEAL FOR PEACE BY U. N. GROUP

Lake Success, Jan. 9.—(P)—The United Nations prepared today to make one final appeal to the Chinese Communists for peace in Korea before taking up an American demand to brand the Peiping regime an aggressor.

The delay, urged by Britain's Sir Gladwyn Jebb, will postpone action on the American proposal for at least 10 days or two weeks. Jebb conceded the new peace efforts had little chance of success, but said:

"It must be absolutely clear that if (failure) was in no way the fault of those nations whose one object was not to attack China but simply to demonstrate that aggression does not pay."

He added, in a speech yesterday to the 60-nation political committee, that "the present situation in which the government of Peiping is openly flouting the authority of the United Nations" cannot go on for long.

It was clear today that, if Peiping spurns the new offer, almost all countries outside the Russian bloc will swing into line to (Turn to Page Six)

Cash Gift Is Made To Public Library

The regular January meeting of the Warren Public Library board of control was held Monday evening in the library building. Eight members of the board and the librarian were present.

Committee reports were submitted and approved and the routine business meeting conducted.

In the librarian's reports, it was revealed that a gift of $500 had been presented to the library by Duane Wilder. There was discussion of the use of this gift and it was decided that, through Mr. Wilder's generosity, it now will be possible to purchase two lamps for the front reading table which has no light and, also a micro-film projector.

After further discussion of library needs, the meeting was adjourned.

Civilian Defense Group Appeals For More Volunteers For First Aid Course

The organization of civilian defense units throughout Warren County is continuing under the direction of Assistant Deputy Coordinator P. C. Ostergard. Preliminary meetings are being held in the rural areas of the county this week and next week and public meetings will be held in each of the areas in the near future.

Mr. Ostergard, in reporting yesterday afternoon to the Warren County Civilian Defense Council meeting, said that he was to be in Sugar Grove last night with Burgess W. F. Crossett and Sheriff L. E. Linder. Tonight the civilian defense planners will be in North Warren, tomorrow evening in Tidoute, and next week meetings are planned for Clarendon and Youngsville, Russell, Kinzua, Grand Valley and Spring Creek will be visited at dates to be announced.

Mr. Ostergard stated that these meetings are only preliminary to the general meetings which will follow in about ten days. He said the preliminary sessions are necessary to lay the groundwork for defense in each area and to assign division heads.

Dr. A. F. Yerg, who is chief of the medical division in the county civilian defense setup reported yesterday that only 11 persons have enrolled in the first aid refresher course to be started on January 22nd. At that time a Red Cross first aid instructor will come to Warren for ten days to conduct the course for men and women who have had previous training. These persons will then be used as instructors throughout the county.

Dr. Yerg stated that between 50 and 100 instructors will be needed in the county and urged that qualified persons enroll now at Red Cross headquarters for the instruction. He stressed that at least 30 should be enrolled immediately in time for the visit of the Red Cross instructor.

William Hill and Kermit Forsgren, who are chief wardens in the borough, reported on the progress of their program. They stated that present plans call for at least 2 air raid captains in each ward, sev-

Vote On Sending Troops To Europe Is Likely To Produce Test of Truman's Program

Washington, Jan. 9.—(P)—A senate vote on sending American troops to Europe appeared likely today to produce the first test in congress of President Truman's program to center free world defenses there.

Senator Wherry of Nebraska, the Republican floor leader, promised to seek action soon on a resolution barring the assignment of additional U. S. ground forces to Europe until congress fixes an overall policy.

This issue is at the heart of the swelling foreign policy debate which has taken on added vigor in the wake of severe military reverses in Korea.

Reduced to its essence, the debate is over whether this nation should concentrate its defenses against Communist aggression within its own shores or should give extensive aid as well to friendly nations in western Europe and elsewhere.

Mr. Truman said nothing about sending more troops abroad in his personally delivered "State of the Union" message to the new congress yesterday.

But he described the North Atlantic community as "the heart of our defense effort and left no doubt that he has no intention of turning back from the course of helping friendly nations to rearm."

The president also pledged that avenues of negotiation would be kept open in the hope of reaching a peaceful settlement with Russia, but he declared that "we will fight, if fight we must."

Wherry's resolution, which he left in a parliamentary position where he could call it before the (Turn to Page Six)

Warren Couple Makes Strike In Gas Field

A feature story on the New Year's Day gas well strike in Clinton county near Renovo, which was published in the Philadelphia Sunday Bulletin on January 7, was of considerable interest to Warren area residents. The story said the well—13th to produce gas in the booming Kettle Creek community since the first strike a year ago—was drilled on the farm of a widow, Mrs. Josephine McCoy. The McCoy property had been leased to a drilling firm headed by Emmons and Harriet Wade, of Warren, associates of the Appalachian Development Co. which is doing extensive gas prospecting in that vicinity. The new well has an estimated capacity of 15 million cubic feet but daily withdrawal probably will be around 5,500,000, the article said.

M'Keesport Bank Robbers Get Away With Over $25,000

McKeesport, Jan. 9.—(P)—A woman and a man bank robbers held up the Union National Bank, escaping with between $25,000 and $50,000, and almost 24 hours later still evaded capture.

They entered the bank and flourished pistols at a woman teller yesterday. A bank spokesman said the estimated loss was only a guess. Bank officials are checking records to determine their exact loss.

The Federal Bureau of Investigation was called into the case after Hilda Nystrom, a teller, said (Turn to Page Six)

Political Pot Begins To Simmer With Many Important County Offices At Stake

The political pot in Warren county for 1951 is slowly beginning to heat up, but has not yet reached simmering stage.

All offices of the county, except those of district attorney, coroner and register and recorder, will be filled in the November elections, and announcements are expected to be made by the various candidates after the usual spring and early summer run of rumors.

Primary elections will be held on Tuesday, September 11. Offices of Judge, County Commissioner (3), Prothonotary, Sheriff, Treasurer, County Auditors (3), and Jury Commissioners (2) are to be filled. All officials except the treasurer may succeed themselves in office. County Treasurer Frank B. Miller has not announced his future plans.

It is expected that there will be several spirited contests as the time draws near for the voters to make their choices.

GENERAL IKE IS ON EIGHT-NATION TOUR

Brussels, Belgium, Jan. 9.—(P)—General Dwight D. Eisenhower arrived here today on the second leg of his visit to Atlantic Pact nations which will provide the international anti-Kremlin army he is to command.

He flew here from a three-day inspection visit in France, where he talked with French civil and military authorities and studied the five-nation Brussels pact defense headquarters at Fontainebleau which may form the nucleus of the 12-nation Atlantic Defense Pact force.

With Eisenhower were Lieut. Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther, his chief of staff, and eight other staff members.

On departure from Paris, Eisenhower made no comment on his visit to France. But his associates said the general "appeared to be highly gratified," although no final, binding decisions were taken.

An attempt by Communist-led demonstrators to march on Eisenhower's temporary headquarters near the Arc De Triomphe fizzled out just before the general left Paris.

Some 3,000 gendarmes kept scattered groups on the move, preventing them from holding a mass protest meeting in front of the mid-Paris Hotel Astoria. The demonstrators were shouting "we want peace" and "Eisenhower get out," and tried to pass around anti-Eisenhower petitions.

With linked hands, the police marched through side streets leading to the hotel, sweeping the area clean of chanting demonstrators. About 30 Communist agitators were hustled off in patrol wagons. Communist labor leaders also ordered a strike on subway and bus lines, but it also apparently failed. Italian Communists threatened strikes and demonstrations when the general arrives in Rome.

After meeting French President Vincent Auriol in Paris early in the morning, Eisenhower made an unannounced stop in Versailles to inspect his World War II headquarters in the Hotel Trianon.

Both Versailles and Fontainebleau have been mentioned as possible sites for the five-star general's headquarters as leader of the 12-nation army.

High Decorations For Five Soldiers

Washington, Jan. 9.—(P)—There were decorations today for five soldiers who could not be here to receive from President Truman the medal on the blue, star-flecked ribbon which bears the single word "valor."

Some of the recipients of the Medal of Honor died while doing the deeds for which they won in the Korean war the highest military decoration this nation can confer. And some are missing.

So the president arranged to give the medals to the widows or the wives or the parents of the general, the private first class, the sergeant, the first lieutenant and the master sergeant.

President Warns Nation To Be Taxed 'Until It Hurts'

Washington, Jan. 9.—(P)—President Truman said today the nation must be taxed "until it hurts" to arm the free world against the menace of Communist aggression.

Secretary of the Treasury Snyder, it was learned, believes that despite widespread recommendations for "pay-as-you-go" financing, taxation steep enough to pay out of hand for the huge rearmament effort would rip the nation's economic fabric.

Any hope that sizeable new federal deficits could be avoided by increased taxes appeared to be fading as members of the new congress sized up probable outlay and came to a tentative conclusion that the government will need somewhere in the region of $75.

Polio Victim's Trip To Hospital Halted

Darlington, Md., Jan. 9.—(P)—Polio sufferer Tommy Passnacht's trip to Baltimore in an iron lung was ordered halted by his doctor today after seven power failures of portable generators.

The 17-year-old youth was being taken from Lancaster General Hospital to Children's Hospital in Baltimore in a specially rigged caravan.

His iron lung was powered by two generators placed in a trailer and situated behind the moving van in which Tommy was riding.

The boy's doctors say Tommy can live no more than minutes outside his iron lung. Dr. Page M. Schildnecht said it was "too dangerous to continue the trip" and it halted 31 miles from its goal.

He ordered Pennsylvania Power and Light Company crewmen to "tear down completely" and overhaul the two miniature power plants.

SOMBER SPEECH ON STATE OF UNION—Delivering his State of the Union message to a joint session of Congress, President Truman, in laying down a 10-point legislative program that asked for a massive defense effort, told the legislators that Russia's lust for world conquest threatens "fullscale war" and the only hope for peace lies in preparing for total mobilization on very short notice. On rostrum, in left background, is Vice President Alben Barkley, and in right background, House Speaker Sam Rayburn.

Cooperation Of Schools In Red Cross And Civil Defense Approved By Board

Board of education members, holding their regular January meeting at the high school last evening, approved any cooperation schools of the borough may be called upon to render in the Red Cross and Civilian Defense programs; also the specific request of the latter group that all students be fingerprinted by borough police officers if consent slips are secured from parents.

Board members gave their approval, also, to the American Legion's request for cooperation in its Tide of Toys campaign, with Legionnaires to be stationed at each school building Friday of this week to collect the toys as pupils bring them in. Students are asked to attach a note to each toy to establish correspondence with European children, who will receive the gifts through CARE.

James Hill, art instructor at Beatty Junior High School, was released from his duties as of Friday of this week, since he has orders to report for induction in the armed services on January 18.

Attendance figures were presented for November and December, showing 95 and 96%, respectively, in comparison with 98 and 95 in 1949-50 and 95 and 93.5 in 1947.

Floyd Bathurst, high school principal, read to the board the letter received from the Committee on Secondary Schools of the Middle Atlantic States, expressing its pleasure in continuing the local school on the accredited list for the period ending December 31, 1953.

The board also heard a report from Warren State Hospital that it will be unable to continue after this year the clinic service it has been providing for the school district. Time and efforts of the staff are required for the patient population, the institution explained.

Dr. Carl Whipple, superintendent of borough schools, has been elected to membership on the executive board of district superintendents of Pennsylvania, and board members approved his acceptance of the honor. Mr. Whipple presented to the board results of the study made by Gerald Newton with teachers on the topic "Why We Are Doing a Better Job of Teaching in Warren."

The finance committee recommended for approval current bills from the general fund in the amount of $6,961.90 and bills paid from the activities accounts amounting to $1,493.99. Other finances considered included receipts from the state of $2,434.50 for the vocational program; $372 for the medical-dental program; $1,406.86 for the lunch program; also $2,231.41 from the Equitable Life Assurance Society as a dividend on group life and accident insurance.

ACT OF KINDNESS IS REWARDED BY FINE

St. Marys, Jan. 9.—(P)—An act of kindness by three local girls last September was rewarded today.

The trio, Dolores Krellner, Katie Burden, and Marta Jean Friedl, were driving around St. Marys airport in Elk county when they noticed a large plane land.

Out stepped former Judge John S. Fine, making a stop as Republican candidate for governor. Fine found no one to meet him and asked the girls if they would take him to Emporium, 20 miles away, where he had a speaking engagement.

Fine In Harrisburg For Conferences After Appointing Woman To His Cabinet

Harrisburg, Jan. 9.—(P)—Governor-elect John S. Fine, with a woman named to his cabinet, came here today to renew cabinet conferences and complete arrangements for his inauguration next Tuesday.

Fine last night at Philadelphia announced the appointment of Mrs. Eleanor G. Evans, of Delaware county, as secretary of public assistance. She will succeed Frank A. Robbins, Jr., of Dauphin county.

Mrs. Evans was the second new cabinet member to be appointed by the governor-elect. He previously had named A. J. Sordani, of Luzerne county, as secretary of Commerce, replacing Theodore Roosevelt, III, of Philadelphia.

In addition, Fine has re-appointed from Governor James H. Duff's cabinet, Otto F. Messner, Lancaster, secretary of revenue; William C. Brown, Philadelphia, secretary of Welfare; Maj. Gen. Frank A. Weber, Beaver, adjutant general; Roy F. Smock, Crawford, secretary of highways; Miles Horst Lebanon, secretary of agriculture; Col. C. M. Wilhelm, commissioner of state police, and Dr. Edward B. Logan, budget secretary.

Cabinet posts still to be filled are those of attorney general, secretary of labor, secretary of mines, secretary of the commonwealth, secretary of health, secretary of banking, secretary of property and supplies, secretary of forests and waters and state insurance commissioner.

Friends of Judge Robert E. Woodside, of the Dauphin county court, saw in Mrs. Evans' appointment a possibility of increased chances for Woodside to be named as attorney general.

Allies Fight Desperately To Slow Communist Tide Rolling Toward Heart Of South Korea

Tokyo, Jan. 9.—(P)—Allied troops fought desperately today to slow the Communist tide rolling toward the heart of South Korea and menacing the U. S. Eighth Army's retreat route to the old Pusan beachhead.

Two United Nations battalions attacked a Red Korean force two miles south of battle-wrecked Wonju, road hub abandoned Monday to the Reds.

An Allied regiment counterattacked strong Communist forces six miles southwest of Wonju.

Allied artillery slammed shells into the Reds and fighter-bombers roared down in close support.

Field dispatches said the fighting still was raging shortly before midnight Tuesday.

The counterattack six miles southwest of Wonju was in the area where the Reds gained a half mile Monday and Allied forces later recovered most of the ground.

Action on the western front south of abandoned Osan was limited to patrols.

B-27 army intelligence reported the Chinese were building up a massive attacking force around Osan. At least two Chinese armies—possibly 80,000 or more troops—were spotted in the area.

The Eighth Army continued its retreat to the southeast. Vanguards of the fast moving Red forces pressed close on the heels of rearguard troops.

Two patrol fights flared 13 and 14 miles southeast of Osan. These attacks put the Reds only 50 road miles—less by air—from the Kum river where the U. S. 24th division began its tragic defense of Taejon last July.

The Korean Communists, bulwarked now by hundreds of thousands of Chinese who entered the war when the Allies almost had it won, were retracing their route of summer conquest into South Korea.

The Reds walked into abandoned Osan Monday. Osan, 28 miles south of Seoul, is the town near where the first American soldier of the Korean war was killed last July.

Communist forces rushed Tuesday into the Osan area, massing for the continuing pursuit of the fleeing Eighth Army. The Reds moved artillery southward across the Han river at Seoul.

An Eighth Army spokesman said one force estimated at 10,000 troops was spotted near Osan.

Allied pilots said Communist troops were clogging the roads south of Seoul and in the Wonju area 55 miles southeast. One airman said:

"I've never seen so many people on the roads up there. They were all moving south."

The Airmen were ordered to (Turn to Page Six)

Driver Involved In Fatal Crash Near Capital On Trial

Harrisburg, Jan. 5.—(P)—Details of a truck-automobile crash which took four lives were given a jury today in Dauphin county court in the trial of Frank L. Najdek, 19, on a charge of involuntary manslaughter.

State policemen took the stand to tell of their investigation of the collision.

Testimony was given at a coroner's inquest that Najdek, riding with the driver of the truck, took over the driving job when the driver became sleepy.

Victims of the crash near Harrisburg last November 22 were the Rev. Guy McIntyre, 50, Richesville, (Turn to Page Six)

Members Of Religious Cult In British Columbia Ready For End Of The World

Keremeos, B. C., Jan. 9.—(P)—After 15 days of chanting and prayer in a darkened stone farm cottage, 35 members of a religious cult were ready today either for the end of the world or to "meet their God."

There appeared to be some doubt just what the "Children of Light," as they call themselves, expect to happen.

Followers passed out word after their vigil began Dec. 26 that the "knowledge of earth's impending end Jan. 9 had come in a vision to their grey-haired leader, Mrs. Grace Agnes Carlson.

But 50-year-old Mrs. Carlson in a flowing white robe and red cape, would not go that far when she talked to newsmen yesterday.

"We are waiting to meet God," she said. "But we don't know in what form. Only God knows that."

Then she reiterated that she had experienced a phenomenon and had had visions which were "too sacred to disclose."

Whatever the "Children of Light" anticipate, they await it in semi-darkness.

Blankets have been pinned over windows of the isolated cottage on the outskirts of this little fruit farming community of 1,000. Within are men, women and children who have divested themselves of things worldly.

Many sold all their possessions to be free of debt "when the Lord comes." Some disposed of orchard lands for as little as $2 an acre.

Prior to the plant tour, the foremen also visited the new Youth Canteen which is being ready for its formal opening on Saturday, January 27.

President Merritt Rohlin presided at the dinner session, and arrangements for the plant tour were outlined by Carl Jensen of the Struthers-Wells plant.

Serving as official guides were Don Anderson, Archie Black, George Budd, Paul Duddy, William Erickson, LeRoy Johnson, George Kiernan, Charles Mahood, William Morse, Harold McKelley, Fred McCutchen, N. A. Nelson, Glenn Peterson, Gunnard Pedersen, H. S. Peterson, Paul Ristau, Paul Steinkamp, John Shanshala and Clem Wolstencroft.

The plant tour proved an "eye-opener" for many of the foremen, who expressed keen interest in the size of the jobs and the exactness of the work accomplished.

Some folks think that fine clothes and fine, big houses are the most important things in life, but these things don't really mean too much if a person doesn't feel well enough to enjoy them. Most folks don't realize this, but Mrs. Lucy Braswell, of Route 2, Stone Mountain, Ga., realizes it very well. Mrs. Braswell takes HADACOL and by taking HADACOL she found she is helping her system overcome deficiencies of Vitamins B1, B2, Niacin and Iron, which HADACOL contains.

Here is Mrs. Braswell's own statement: "I have been sick for some time with stomach disturbances. I began taking HADACOL and I have been taking it about six weeks. Workman Injured On Building Job

Charles Barr, employed by Warren Apartments, Inc., sustained lacerations about the eye this morning in an accident at the old Fisher home on Market street. He was treated at the office of Dr. Floyd Schuler where two sutures were applied to the eye.

Workmen on the wrecking job were attempting to haul an old gas boiler out of the cellar of the home when the truck skidded and tipped over. Barr and other men were standing on the front end of the vehicle to aid traction when the accident occurred.

When the truck tipped over, gasoline ran out of its tank, and city firemen were called to stand by. They responded at 9 a. m. with the emergency truck, and remained at the scene until a wrecker could haul the truck out. There was no fire.

No substitute for experience

In making efficient use of telephone wires and cables...and in keeping them in service...there's no substitute for experience.

Throughout the Bell Telephone organization, in fact, you'll find constant emphasis on experience, alertness, efficiency...and ingenuity. These characteristics, always needed to provide good telephone service at low cost, are even more important during times of national emergency.

You can be sure that telephone people are doing all they can, subject only to limitations of material and manpower, to meet the nation's urgent needs...as well as to fill the still-growing demand for residence and business service.

FREEZES TO DEATH

An elderly resident of Union City was found frozen to death less than a block from his home Sunday after a day-long search by neighbors and police. The man, Joseph E. Haugh, 62, who lived with a nephew, Nellis Gehres, of R. D. 2, Kimbel road, Union City, was found in a snow bank at 11 a. m. Sunday by a searching party. Deputy Coroner Harry Musser theorized that the man had become exhausted from battling high winds and heavy snows and fell into a bank. Cause of death was tentatively attributed to a heart attack. Haugh came to Union City at 7 p. m. Saturday and visited with a sister, Mrs. Patrick McGill, until about 11:35 p. m. He left his sister's home and began a two and one-half mile trek to his home.

FARM SHOW SIDELIGHTS!

Harrisburg, Jan. 9—(P)—Farm livestock aren't the only animals drawing crowds at the state farm show this week. The State Game Commission display features a wildcat, a wood duck, a wild turkey and a young deer.

Children visiting the exhibit on the upper concourse of the large arena have taken quite a fancy to little Ruby the young deer fawn. But the small fry are chagrined when they see Ruby sporting a coal black nose unlike her more famed relative—Rudolph of the red-nose variety.

Free x-ray exhibit of the State Health Department helps attract Farm Show visitors to the state government exhibits lining the large arena. Some 4,800 persons took the free examination at last year's show and a similar number are expected this year to check if they have a trace of tuberculosis.

Most popular food at the show again this year are two of Pennsylvania's top farm crops—apples and potatoes. A huge row of ovens turn out baked potatoes by the thousands to the huge throngs swarming over the miles of exhibits. The Pennsylvania Potato Growers Cooperative Association sponsors the booth.

The Pennsylvania State Horticultural Association sells big red eating apples and glasses of apple juice—each for five cents. It's the most inexpensive refreshment at the show.

A new-type milk cooler is a top attraction on the farm show machinery exhibit floor.

The cooler features a door in one side instead of the conventional top door opening. This enables farmers to slide milk cans into coolers instead of lifting them in.

Lighted Ornaments On Autos Banned

Illuminated hood and radiator ornaments are banned from motor vehicles, Pennsylvania State Police say.

A new ruling of counsel for the State Department of Revenue declares:

"The sale or use of electrically illuminated hood or radiator ornaments—emblems or insignias, antenna, fender guides and similar electrically-illuminated devices—is not legal in this Commonwealth."

This ruling applies whether "standard-equipped or as an accessory," the ruling stated—but no action will be taken in cases where the cars are now so equipped "other than it will be required that the wiring be disconnected."

Explaining this ruling, the department reported:

"This ruling was brought about by the increasing use of electrically illuminated devices that serve no useful purpose and unless prohibited could lead to the mounting of so many different types as to cause confusion as to the purpose of the required or permitted lighting under the vehicle code, as well as interfere with any additional safety lighting that may, through traffic necessity, be developed in the future."

The postwar United Nations Organization was planned at the Dumbarton Oaks Conference in 1944.

The population of New York in 1890 was 1,174,779.

IF REDS GRAB EUROPE?

The nation's leaders and most responsible observers have been worrying a great deal lately about where America would stand if all Europe fell into Russia's hands. Especial stress has been laid on the danger of letting the Communists grab the huge European industrial potential.

An opinion expressed by Bruce Blossat in an editorial written for NEA Service, says the worry is well grounded. Our peril would be multiplied many times should Europe come under Soviet control. But in our emphasis on the grave risk, we must not assume that in such an event our cause would be hopeless. There is no need to adopt a defeatist attitude.

Russia already has an overwhelming superiority in numbers of men. With Europe in tow, it would add greatly both to its material resources and its industrial capacity. Yet there's another side to the story.

The United States has the greatest rate of productivity—production per man-hour of any nation in the world. During World War II, our man-hour output was three times that of either Germany and Japan combined, or Britain and Russia together.

Furthermore, and this fact has been carefully documented by economists who studied World War II, this country actually turned out more munitions of war in the peak year of 1944 than Germany, Japan, Russia and Britain together. In other words, we out-produced both the enemy and our two principal allies.

And we did it while still allowing production for civilian purposes to rise above pre-war levels.

Today, of course, our position in this field is stronger than ever. Our productivity has risen considerably since the war. More than that, we have spent 83 billions on industrial expansion and are planning to spend another 22 billion in 1951. America's capacity to produce is thus far beyond 1944.

You might, therefore, fairly ask: If we out-produced all the chief warring powers in 1944 and are better off today, why worry about what happens to Europe?

Sticking strictly to economics and ignoring the several vital political and military reasons why Europe should be held, here's what we have to face:

In terms of natural resources, the raw stuff of industrial output, we are not the country we were in 1944, or 20 years ago. Now we import almost half our copper and rely heavily on foreign sources of aluminum. The prime source of our iron ore for decades has been the Mesabi Range in Minnesota; but a top steel official said while World War II still raged that "this is the last war which will be fought off the Mesabi." High-grade supplies have dwindled sharply.

A Russia in possession of Europe would outflank Africa and the Near East, with their vital copper, uranium (for the A-bomb), and oil. The Soviet leaders undoubtedly would seek to strangle us by cutting off as much outside trade as possible. If it came to war, Russian submarines would menace or slash our sea lanes to vital materials we now get from South America.

At great expenditure in money and men, we could develop low-grade iron ore and aluminum and other materials to offset this handicap to some extent. But that effort would cut seriously into our vaunted productivity. Our great World War II record was made with the help of friendly countries who could assure us most of the materials we needed. Without such aid, we might be hard-pressed to bring our great producing talents into full use.

To lose this edge would perhaps throw us into a long stalemate with a Sovietized outside world, compelling us to organize into a garrison state. We have no guarantee we would emerge on top when this situation finally ended. But, on the other hand, we don't have to assume we'd be sunk for sure. Our industrial know-how, even with heavy handicaps, is unmatched anywhere. It is our great reliance.

Borough officials and street department employees are deserving of a word of commendation for the fast and thorough manner in which the snowfall over Sunday was cleared from main thoroughfares Monday between two a. m. and two p. m.

Three important projects for people of the community to keep in mind — The Tide of Toys, March of Dimes and Easter Seal Sale.

We'll Make It, if the Steam Holds Out---

Here And There

It is difficult to realize that four weeks from tomorrow, February 7th, will be Ash Wednesday, the first day of Lent, which means that Easter Sunday will fall on March 25, the earliest since 1940, when it fell on March 24. Only in four other years in the last century and a half has Easter been earlier. The earliest year was March 22, 1818. In three other years—1845, 1856 and 1913—Easter came on March 23. There will be but three double holidays this year, that is where the festive day falls either on a Saturday, a Sunday or a Monday. The first of these of course was New Years. The second, affecting banks, etc., is Lincoln's birthday, February 12, which falls on a Monday. The third will be Labor Day, fixed by law for the first Monday in September. Armistice day, a legal holiday in Pennsylvania, but not widely observed, falls on the second Sunday of November, which probably will shift the observance to Monday, November 12. Thursdays will claim as many holidays as any other day. Starting off will be Washington's birthday February 22. Next Thursday holiday will be Flag Day, June 14. The third is Thanksgiving, a Thursday holiday every year. Memorial Day, Fourth of July and Halloween all fall on Wednesdays. Christmas will fall on a Tuesday, Columbus Day, October 12 on Friday, and for the superstitious there will be but two Fridays the 13th, the first in April and the other in July.

This And That: Before she became Mrs. Zacharias and in the days when she was concentrating on basketball and other men's games, Babe Didrikson, appeared in Warren with a cage team in an exhibition game with a local five played at Beatty court. . . . There was a lot of good-natured ribbing at the dinner for Roy Krebs at the Masonic Temple Saturday evening; presented a handsome wrist bag some person popped up with the remark—"they want to be sure he leaves town," and when he was given a valuable wrist watch as the final presentation Wally Pettit, sitting opposite the guest of honor volunteered the suggestion—"Guess they're going to make sure he doesn't miss his train." . . . A former Corry rector, well known among Episcopalians in Warren and vicinity, Commander William J. Kuhn, of Cleveland, O., has reported as chaplain for the Pacific Fleet Amphibious Force with headquarters at the U. S. Naval Amphibious Base at Coronado, Calif. In civilian life the Rev. Kuhn was rector of the Emmanuel Episcopal church in Corry about ten years ago. . . . Dell Darling, former Warren resident, has been re-elected chairman of the board of county commissioners at Erie; as commission chairman, Darling also serves as head of the retirement salary board. . . . Happy to acknowledge receipt of a copy of the January 5th issue of "Fire Department News," published in the interest of the folks living in Pleasant township; among other items of interest we note a reminder to residents "In case of fire call, daytime, 1111; nights, weekends and holidays, 1645, 3432-M or 2519-J"; it is also noted that the next meeting of the ladies auxiliary will be held at the fire house Wednesday, January 17, and the next session of the Fire Department will be Monday, January 15. . . . Dental Societies of the state and nation are making plans for observance of National Mental Health Day next month.

See Eisenhower's Task As World's Toughest Job

BY PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—A scheme to send Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower to Moscow to ask Premier Stalin just what he wanted and what he thought he was doing was dreamed up here in Washington about a year ago. Its principal promoters were W. Stuart Symington, then Secretary of the Air Force, and Clark Clifford, then presidential counsel.

These two fair-haired boys of the administration were never able to sell their pet plan to the White House, and the news that they ever even tried to put it over has come out only now. But it is an interesting footnote in view of General Eisenhower's new assignment as Supreme Commander of Allied Powers in Europe.

To say that General Eisenhower has been given the world's toughest job might even be regarded as an understatement. Whereas the big idea cooked up for him by plotters Symington and Clark was to ask Uncle Joe what it was all about, the new assignment is to show Uncle Joe. And as they used to say about Harvard professors, "You can always tell a Russian, but you can't tell him much."

So it is deeds, and not words, that are going to count now. General Eisenhower has been given powers far beyond any military commander to get results. He can deal directly with the heads of the 11 countries making up the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, and with Germany, which may become 12th member.

A HIGH-RANKING officer from each country will make up the top command of the general staff at Eisenhower's headquarters. But the representatives of the United States, France and Great Britain make up a standing general staff committee to whom General Eisenhower will report.

Before General Eisenhower took the job as supreme commander—before it was even offered to him—he met with the U. S. Joint Chiefs of Staff. They drew up plans for a military organization that General Eisenhower considered workable. These plans were submitted to the meeting of Defense Ministers in Brussels just before Christmas. They were approved, unchanged. So General Eisenhower steps into an organization that he himself helped plan and considers practical.

NATO—the North Atlantic Treaty Organization—has been completely revamped and simplified. Instead of six regional planning groups, there are only three. What will happen to British General Lord Montgomery's original Brussels pact headquarters at Fontainebleau has yet to be determined, but it will probably be absorbed in General Eisenhower's organization. American, British and French occupation forces in western Germany will definitely come under General Eisenhower's direction.

THE plan to increase the 10 divisions now in western Europe to a force of some 60 divisions by 1953 is without a fixed schedule and without commitment to send a specified number of divisions. An agreed-upon ratio of expansion has been adopted, however.

An example given is that if France raised five new divisions and the United States or the United Kingdom should send no new divisions to Europe, they would be in default. The leeway was provided so that no nation would be forced to send poorly-trained, or poorly-equipped divisions into the field. Lack of equipment is still one of the major bottlenecks in defense preparedness.

Creation of the new NATO Defense Production Board is expected to speed up this rearmament. The man to be named head of this international DPB will have a responsibility to General Eisenhower to get for him the arms he wants. Greater standardization of arms is one development that may be expected.

Clarendon VFW Auxiliary Hears About Events of the Busy Holiday Season

Clarendon, Jan. 9—Members of the Ladies Auxiliary of Marshall Post No. 314 held their regular meeting Thursday evening, conducted by Margaret Dickerson, president pro tem, and including reports of the last meeting.

Mrs. Ann Vicini was complimented on the success of the Christmas party, when tables were lovely in holiday decorations and ice cream was provided by Gertrude Maines. Gifts were exchanged and a gift was presented the president, Gertrude Maines, who has gone to be with her husband at Camp Atterbury, Ind.

Hospital Chairman Minnie Vicini read her report on the very successful Christmas party held at Warren State Hospital. The program was opened by Marie Crocker, Mrs. Engstrom and her Accordion Kids, who were in uniform. They made a very pretty setting for the stage and their music was much appreciated. Mr. Hunter, of Lincoln school at Clarendon Heights, presented a very fine Christmas skit. Efforts of both were well rewarded by the continuous applause of the patients. The Christmas tree on the stage had been decorated by Mary Pull and presented a festive appearance, and a real Santa, provided by the post, added to the gala occasion. Preparations had been made for 130 patients and 100 were present. The post and auxiliary furnished as refreshments ice cream, home made cookies and pop. Santa, with his jovial smile, gave out cigarettes, boxes of Christmas candy, apples, smoking and chewing tobacco and snuff, also magazines. Each patient received a treat, and the same was provided for those unable to be present.

Also reported at the regular meeting was the fact the women had packed and sent six boxes overseas and 25 in the States for boys from Clarendon and Mead township who are in service. A vote of thanks was extended Alice Wilson for her kindness in allowing the group the use of her home as a center for packing the boxes. The resignation of the president, Mrs. Maines, was read but was not accepted. It was decided Senior Vice President Margaret Dickerson will preside during Mrs. Maines' absence. The ladies are busy preparing a schedule of activities for the new year, the first of which will be a bake sale in the Miller Confectionery store Saturday, January 20. All donations must be in by 9 a. m. of that day. Many were also interested in announcement that the plastic bedspread given by the unit has been awarded to Marion Morley, Clarendon.

GRACE CHURCH WSCS

The monthly meeting of Grace Methodist WSCS was held Friday evening, with a large attendance of members and friends. The president, Mrs. LeRoy Hammerbeck, conducted the meeting and Mrs. Norman Johnson was in charge of devotions.

Following the business session and reports, Mrs. Lewis Garber introduced Rev. Sprigg Harwood, Clarendon, who told of his experiences as a missionary from the time he decided to be one through his service in India and Malaya. He taught in the English department of the Methodist school at Lucknow, India, and, when hostilities between the Hindus and Moslems forced the missionaries to leave India, he was sent to Malaya. During all of the trouble in India, Rev. Harwood said, the Christians were never harmed in the sector where he was stationed. Both Hindus and Moslems were anxious to have their children educated in the Christian schools and the speaker found these children eager and interested.

At the close of Rev. Harwood's talk, he answered various questions volunteered by members present. A social hour followed.

NEWCOMERS CLUB

The monthly meeting of the Welcome Wagon Club was held in the form of a dinner at the YWCA, where tables were decorated with snowmen, decorative white candles and a gingerbread house as the central arrangement. Hostesses were Mrs. Luella Barrett, Mrs. Barbara Gladd and Mrs. Edna Soderholm. Introduced as a newcomer was Mrs. Kay Schenholm, from Bradford.

Following dinner, the group adjourned to the parlors, where Barbara Gladd had an interesting quiz program.

Hummingbirds feed on nectar of blossoms, and small insects that they capture in and about the flowers.

MR. AND MRS. ROBERT L. ALMENDINGER

Standing before a fireplace banked with palms and mums in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Kibbey, Warren RD 1, their daughter, Barbara Ann, became the bride of Robert L. Almendinger, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Almendinger, Warren RD 3, on Saturday, January 6. Rev. A. J. Kimmel, pastor of First Evangelical United Brethren church, read the service at 1:30 p. m.

The bride wore green accessories and a corsage of white carnations with a wool suit of light beige color. Her only attendant was Mrs. Edward Almendinger, sister-in-law of the bridegroom, who wore a blue and white checked wool suit, navy accessories and pink carnations.

Edward Almendinger served his brother as best man. The bride's mother chose a dark brown crepe dress, with matching accessories, and Mrs. Almendinger was in cocoa brown, with accessories of a darker shade. Each had a corsage of yellow baby mums.

The reception for 100 guests followed in the bride's home, where snapdragons, baby mums and carnations were used in attractive decorations. Jackie Kibbey, sister of the bride, presided at the bride's table, which was set in silver and lighted with silver candelabra. An aunt of the bride, Mrs. Len Kibbey, served the four-tier wedding cake, which was topped with miniature bridal figures. Serving as aides were Mrs. Freeman Loomis and Florence Ward, aunts of the bride; Mrs. Thelma Ploss, Mrs. Marge Johnson and Carmen Johnson.

The newlyweds left later for a wedding trip to Harrisburg, to be at home after January 15 in Starbuck. The bride, graduate of Warren High in 1949, is employed by the New Process Company; the bridegroom, who attended the local high school, works for the highway department.

Honoring the bride-elect have been Mrs. Jack Kibbey and Mrs. Len Kibbey; Carmen Johnson, Jackie Kibbey, and Mrs. Ed Almendinger.

Ruth Alice Phillips - Robert K. Johnson Wed Saturday In Home of the Bride

Sugar Grove, Jan. 9—The home of Mr. and Mrs. Alston J. Phillips was the scene of a lovely wedding Saturday, January 6, when their youngest daughter, Ruth Alice, was united in marriage to Robert K. Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Johnson, Russell.

Rev. Gustav Erickson, pastor of Lander Methodist church, performed the double ring service by candlelight, the couple standing beneath an archway of evergreens and white chrysanthemums, blue and white candles. Hazel Ann Miller, classmate of the bride, played traditional wedding numbers, including "I Love You Truly", "Because" and the Bridal Chorus from "Lohengrin".

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was gowned in winter white wool, street length, with white lace accessories and a corsage of red roses. Kay Johnson, sister of the bridegroom and maid of honor, wore Talisman roses with a frock of fuchsia color.

Donald Phillips, brother of the bride, served as best man and Lincoln Phillips, another brother, was the usher.

Mrs. Phillips chose brown crepe, with pom poms of an orange shade, and Mrs. Johnson wore black accessories and white pom poms with a rust suit. Many white tapers were used in decorations for the reception which followed. Aides were Mrs. Allan Seams, Mrs. Stanley Newark of Lakewood, cousin of the bride, and Alice Phillips of Jamestown, niece of the bride. The bride's sister, Mrs. Max Devereaux, Corry, and Mrs. Don Phillips poured, while Mrs. Lincoln Phillips served the three-tiered cake.

Among the guests was a brother of the bridegroom, Pfc. Norman W. Johnson, Jr., with the U. S. Marines at Philadelphia. Other guests were from Jamestown, Lakewood, Corry and Russell.

The couple left later for a wedding trip. The bride is a graduate of Sugar Grove-Farmington Joint School and is employed by the New Process in Warren. Mr. Johnson attended the same school and is employed in the A and P store, Warren.

A very pleasing recital was given by pupils of Miss Eleanor Swanson in her home Saturday evening. Much progress was shown on the part of the students as a whole and it was gratifying to note how much genuine musical talent was found in half of the class, an unusual percentage. Poise and control, qualities necessary to produce clear and rapid technique, was noted in nearly every performer. At the close of the program, refreshments were served to parents and friends. Heard during the evening were the following students: Lana Shields, Kay Shattuck, Susan Spattfor, Carol Lee Papalia, Sandra Coates, David VanOrsdale, Geraldine Lindberg, Gregg Conboy, Mary Ann Gahring, Carol Van Blois, Sandra Lundgren, Jack Kirk, Diane Sammelson, Sally McCarty, Caroline Moore, Ruth Ballard, Robert Van Blois, Gail McDonald, Alice Gahring, Beverly Conboy, Nancy Zock and John Kieshauser.

SOCIETY

Woman's Club members, at their weekly meeting at the clubhouse Monday afternoon, enjoyed a program arranged by the Art Department, featuring C. J. Cray and pictures he took on his trip to southern France. The pictures, colored slides and movies, showed his trip from the start at the east coast straight across to the Spanish border. Featured were scenes of the Van Gogh country near Arles and others from Aix, home of Cézanne; old and ancient country conquered by the Romans, with its castles, and Mediterranean scenes.

SING HERE THURSDAY—The Southernaires, noted vocal ensemble which has established a reputation as outstanding performers in radio and concert fields in the past 20 years, will be presented by the Jaycee music committee at 8:30 p. m. Thursday in the Woman's Club auditorium as the third of this season's attractions.

The quartet, with piano accompanist, won immediate popularity with its first radio broadcast over NBC 20 years ago and soon became a favorite with radio audiences from coast to coast. In the interim, "the weatherbeaten, whitewashed church" has become a Southernaires trademark and thousands listen in when they sing at 10:30 each Sunday morning.

Repertoire of the singers covers songs from the classics, old English folk songs, the more popular melodies of the modern composers, as well as the traditional Negro spirituals and folk songs.

Admission to Thursday night's concert is by membership card only, the sponsors remind.

senate almost any time, would bar assignment of any further forces to Europe "pending the formulation of a policy with respect thereto by congress."

Administration leaders planned an effort to send it to the Democratic-controlled foreign relations committee where it probably would die.

The test vote, which could come on that side issue, was generally expected to be close.

Throughout a 30-minute address which lawmakers interrupted by applause 15 times, the president pounded away at the theme that the security of free nations lies in banding together and building military strength to the point where "Soviet rulers may face the facts and lay aside their plans to take over the world."

But Mr. Truman left unanswered many questions about Korea, the extent of home front sacrifices and even the amount of new taxes he will propose—except to say the tax boost would be "major."

MILK RIVER RANGE by LEE FLOREN

Chapter 23

LEN Cavanaugh was standing in front of the bunkhouse, talking with one of his riders, when they saw the man heading at a high lunge toward the ranch coming from the direction of Beaverton.

"That's Luke, ain't it?" asked the rider.

"Looks like it," said Cavanaugh. He had sent the man to Beaverton that morning, to watch for news from that source and to keep an eye on Sheriff Ike Jones. He was standing on a high lunge, along when Luke rode in. Luke's bay was rich with creamy lather, and the animal was breathing heavily.

"Got a grudge against that horse?" asked Cavanaugh.

Luke dismounted, talking as he came down. "Buck McKee an' Tortilla Joe just rode into Beaverton. McKee's killed Shuffle Watson—had him dead over his horse—an' Tortilla Joe's beat the devil out of Jesse Smith, an' Smith talked plenty."

Cavanaugh was silent for a long moment. Then he said, "So that's the way it turned out, huh? Where's Jesse Smith now?"

"In jail, an' Ike Jones, so they said, is comin' with a warrant for you—murder of Sim Hannegan—an' Hank an' Joe Tuttle." The man's voice rose slightly. "Len, there's gonna be trouble! I got a wife an' baby over across the ridge. I want to ride out, Len!"

Cavanaugh said, "All right," and they went inside. He paid the rider, who mounted his horse and rode toward the west.

A puncher came up to where Cavanaugh stood. "What's up, Len?"

"Nothing," said Cavanaugh.

He stepped past the man and went to the horse corral. He roped a gray sorrel, saddled him, and rode out toward Beaverton, his rifle in his saddle-bow. He hit a long, powerful lunge, riding deep between horn and cantle, lifting the bronc occasionally with his spurs.

The whole thing had broken wrong; the play had been mis-called and the weight had hit him. Yet his heavy, stolid face asked his conflicting emotions. His mind was going ahead, looking for the "out," and constructing the future. "What Jesse Smith knows, if they get him on the witness stand, can hang me," he muttered. "But maybe Jesse Smith won't get to talk." He dwelt on this thought, turning it over and examining it, and he knew it was good.

THE SORREL'S muscles were lengthening out, and the horse was losing its stiffness. But big an Cavanaugh, there in saddle, had little moment for his mount. The plan was clear before him. He would beat Sheriff Jones to the punch, and this time it would be for the last time. For when this was over with, Ike Jones would be dead.

He examined his plan for flaws. There were some, of course. Ike Jones had held the star for many years. Almost everybody in the country knew him, and he had many friends. He had some enemies, too, but the friends outnumbered the enemies by overwhelming odds.

Yes, the odds were plentiful. Buck McKee was back in the hills, and a w w Buck knew that he, Len Cavanaugh, had killed Hank and Joe Tuttle. Buck McKee had seen him, then he had seen Joe down in New Mexico, and there was this friendship between them. Len Cavanaugh leaned back hard against the cantle. He would have to kill McKee, or McKee would kill him.

He pondered, then, with the thought of Ike Jones. With Jones dead, statute law would be a thing of the past, here on this range. And, for that matter, need anybody know he had killed Ike Jones? A bullet hits and kills and holds its secret. And when there are no eyes to see it hit, then there are no voices to be raised against the killer.

Len Cavanaugh smiled.

He wrestled with one thought: Who was the greater menace, Sheriff Ike Jones or Buck McKee? He evaluated each and found that the passing hand of time made Sheriff Jones the greater enemy at present. For Jones was armed with a warrant. McKee would be sitting back and biding his time, waiting to see what happened to Jones, or what Jones did, before taking his part in this drama.

First, then, he would attend to Jones.

Even now, Sheriff Jones would be riding toward the Slashed Box 8, coming to arrest him. Cavanaugh knew Jones would have to cross Milk River at Miles Crossing. Here, where the rapids ran wild, was the only crossing within miles. Cavanaugh rode into the high brush, left his horse there, and went on foot to the crossing, a quarter of a mile below.

Overhead, a magpie chirped, fluttering from limb to limb. Cavanaugh watched the gaudy black-and-white bird. The bird had gotten used to him and came close, regarding him through shiny black eyes, its head tilted.

Then, suddenly, the bird looked around, started, it poised for a moment on a branch and then turned and took off, soaring above the trees, chattering. Cavanaugh heard the sounds of shod hoofs against gravel and he saw Sheriff Ike Jones ride into the river, across the way from him.

Jones drew in, looking at the river while his mount drank. Slowly, Cavanaugh raised his rifle, soundlessly eared back the hammer. Jones lifted his head and looked across the stream, directly at the thick foliage that hid Cavanaugh. The big man wondered momentarily if Jones had seen him; then he discarded that thought, for Jones' eyes went on, roaming over the brush on the opposite bank.

Reassured, Cavanaugh laid his cheek against the smooth stock, feeling its wooden coldness. Despite the gathering dusk, he collected the sights, letting the first sight fall into the notch of the sight. He centered there on Sheriff Ike Jones and waited.

And he never saw it again. But he did get one more look at Ike Jones, near the end of the rapids.

The lawman was whirling with the suction, limp and lifeless. His body rolled over once, and then went under again. Cavanaugh stopped and went back to his horse.

Things had worked his way. He had shot low, but that was just as well. For, in killing the horse, he had caused the death of Ike Jones. Now, when they found Jones' body, there would be no bullet holes in it. Of course, there would be one in the horse, but that could mean almost anything. Maybe people would figure that the horse had started fighting in midstream, and Ike Jones had shot it to still its mad, thrashing hoofs.

Cavanaugh untied his horse, hit the oxbow stirrup, and stepped into the horse, but that could mean almost anything. Maybe people would figure that the horse had started fighting in midstream, and Ike Jones had shot it to still its mad, thrashing hoofs.

Field and Stream Club Meets Tonight

Warren Field and Stream Club will hold its first meeting of the new year tonight at 7:30 o'clock in Irvinedale School, Jackson street extension. Don Taft, newly elected president, will be in charge of the meeting.

Secretary Curt Sasserson reminded all dads to invite their sons to attend, and a special movie, Laurel and Hardy in "Pardon Us" will be shown for their entertainment.

Jim Konstanty Is Voted "Athlete Of Year" In A. P. Poll

New York, Jan. 9.—(AP)—Jim Konstanty, record-setting workhorse of the Philadelphia Phillies' pitching staff, was proclaimed 1950's male "Athlete of the Year" today in the annual Associated Press poll.

The mild-mannered onetime school teacher, whose tireless right arm carried the Phillies to the National League pennant, won in a close vote over Vic Janowicz, Ohio State's magnificent football halfback, and Ezzard Charles, heavyweight champion of the ring world.

There was a wide difference of opinion among sports writers and broadcasters, who mentioned close to 100 athletes in all, including the race horse, Noor, and Japan's human fish, Furuhachi.

Voters were asked to cast ballots for three in order of preference. Points were awarded on the basis of three for first and two for second, etc.

The bespectacled, 33-year-old Konstanty received 32 first place votes and a total of 173 points, 33 more than Janowicz, the bull-necked ball-toter who won All-American and Heisman trophy honors.

The "Athlete of the Year" was one of a growing number of honorees piled on the Philadelphia relief pitcher this year.

He set the modern record for the most games pitched in one season, 74, and since these were all in a relief role he set a new all-time mark for rescues attempted.

He finished with 16 victories and seven defeats and was a natural for the National League's "Most Valuable" award, although no relief pitcher ever had won that distinction before.

Konstanty was Manager Eddie Sawyer's surprise choice to start the first World Series game against the New York Yankees. He lost, 1-0, and relieved in two other games. The Yankees swept the series, 4-0, but Konstanty's pitching, even in defeat, was a highlight of the fall classic.

Youngsville Squad To Face Tionesta

Warren High Dragons have an open date in their schedule tonight, but several of the other high school basketball teams in the county are slated for action.

Youngsville Eagles, winners over Sugar Grove in the opening Upper Allegheny Valley League game Friday night, will tangle with Tionesta on the Tionesta court.

Sugar Grove goes to Marienville, while Tidioute tangles with Hickory on the latter's court.

Like Warren, Sheffield also will be idle tonight, but returns to action Friday night in an Allegheny Mountain League scrap at Kane. Warren's next game also is scheduled for Friday, a Section 2, District 10 league match at Meadville.

Other games slated in the district for tonight are:

Titusville at Grove City.
Erie Tech at Millcreek.
Union City at North East.
Spartansburg at Pleasantville.
Brookville at Oil City.
Kane at Ridgway.
Corry at Meadville.

McFadden Leads Section 2 Scoring

A 24-point spurge by Dave McFadden, who plays either center or guard for the Oil City Oilers, gave him a commanding lead in the race for individual scoring honors in first round games of the Section 2, District 10 scholastic basketball league race. Nineteen of Dave's point were registered in the third and fourth periods and were a big factor in Oil City's triumph over the highly-touted Meadville Bulldogs.

Scoring leaders in the first round games were:

McFadden OC . . . 10 5-8 25

Gordon, War. . . . 7 4-7 18

Gustafson, Titus. . 5 3-5 13

Kiser, Meadville . . 4 5-7 13

Buser, Titus. . . . 2 6-7 10

Mangrum Winner By Single Stroke

Los Angeles, Jan. 8.—(AP)—Henry Ransom, who claims hay fever is his worst enemy, may have found a second choice. It could be Lloyd Mangrum, who cost him the Los Angeles open golf title.

Ransom, like Mangrum, is a Texan transplanted to a professional's job in Illinois. They tangled in a duel on the back nine of the $15,000 tournament yesterday and Mangrum won the prize by a stroke.

Mangrum came from five strokes back to card 280. The best Ransom could do, under terrific pressure, was 281. Sam Snead, last year's winner who played this tournament with a

Message Indicates President Truman Is Soft Pedaling His "Fair Deal" Program

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, Jan. 9.—(AP)—President Truman is soft-pedaling his "fair deal" program for 1951.

He needs all the support he can get in congress on his foreign program, since congress already is split wide open on that.

Besides, a large part of congress' energy this year is going to be needed for international dealings and defense.

In his State of the Union Message to congress yesterday Mr. Truman seemed very careful not to anger anyone very much about his domestic program.

The whole tone of what he said on domestic affairs was far less aggressive than his state of the union speech in other years.

His Trumanite Democrats in congress are outnumbered by the Republicans and southern Democrats, any time they team up.

The Republicans are his biggest hurdle on foreign affairs. He'll need to woo the southerners, or at least not push them away from him.

He infuriated them in other years when he plugged for his civil rights program: an anti-lynching law, abolition of the poll tax, and a fair employment practices commission (FEPC).

In his state of the union message last year Mr. Truman said: "I again urge the congress to enact civil rights proposals I made in February, 1948."

This time neither "urge" nor "civil rights" appeared in his speech. He made oblique reference to the subject in a single sentence: "We must assure equal rights and equal opportunities to all our citizens."

The Taft-Hartley labor law, ever since the Republican-controlled congress passed it in 1947, has been a sore point in congress, busting it wide open.

A promise to wipe it out was one of the main points in Mr. Truman's campaign for the presidency in 1948. Ever since he has urged its repeal.

Last year in his state of the union message he called T-H a "punitive" labor law and called on congress to repeal it. Congress didn't.

This time Mr. Truman said action is needed to improve "our labor laws, to help provide stable labor-management relations and to make sure that we have steady production in this emergency."

Last year Mr. Truman asked congress to improve social security benefits. Congress did.

This time Mr. Truman seemed to be saying, although it wasn't clear, that old age pensions should be improved further.

This, too, was handled obliquely. But if Mr. Truman was asking for higher old age pensions, congress isn't expected to respond.

And, while in the past Mr. Truman banged away at congress for a compulsory health insurance program, this time he merely said: "We still need to provide insurance against loss of earnings through sickness, and against the high costs of medical care."

Previously Mr. Truman had asked congress to provide federal aid to education. This too had become a sore point.

Yesterday he mentioned this subject by saying something needs to be done to aid "the states to meet the most urgent needs of our elementary and secondary schools."

Then he hastened to add: "Some of our plans will have to be deferred for the time being."

That phrase about deferring "some of our plans for the time being" explained much of the soft-pedaled Mr. Truman put on his "fair deal."

Recklessness Is Blamed For Most Fatal Accidents

Chicago — (AP) — Just plain reckless, but sober, drivers caused most of the New Year's holiday traffic deaths for which specific causes are known.

A nationwide survey by the Associated Press shows that of the 304 traffic fatalities for the period, definite causes were given for 186. Of these drunken driving was blamed directly for only seven, while 108 were ascribed to recklessness.

Commenting on the survey, Ned T. Dearborn, president of the National Safety Council said:

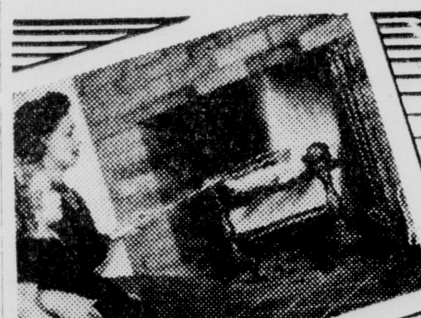

"Many of these (reckless) drivers wouldn't have risked a dollar on the outcome of the Rose Bowl game, yet they gambled on the highest stakes there are—and lost."

The forms of recklessness included too much speed, taking a chance in passing other vehicles and following too closely.

"It is the old story of human error—not the fault of the car or the roads as much as it was the fault of ourselves—the stubborn, gamble-loving, overconfident, human being," Dearborn said.

The survey also showed that of 39 pedestrians killed in the three-day period, 20 of them died as a result of their own negligence.
